This was one of my absolute favorite sandwiches growing up. I still remember to make one occasionally when I happen to have bananas in the house.

Peanut Butter And Banana Sandwich

2 slices of bread

Peanut Butter

Banana

Toast bread slices to provide a firmer base. Spread both bread slices with desired amount of your favorite peanut butter. Slice banana into desired thickness and arrange on top of peanut butter on one slice of bread. Place other slice of bread on top, with peanut butter side facing the banana slices.

Double-decker style: Follow above instructions. Spread peanut butter in same thickness on the top side of the current top of the sandwich. Slice more banana and arrange on top of newest peanut butter layer. Spread peanut butter in same thickness on a third slice of bread (toasted, if the other slices were toasted). Place third slice of bread on top, with peanut butter side facing the second layer of banana slices.

Notes:

* I like thick banana slices, so I tend to use a entire medium or large banana for a single-layer sandwich.

* And yes, I have used 2 whole bananas when creating a double-decker sandwich. ~grin~
